Two Murder Cases Feature Docket In Martinsville

(Special to The Bee.)

MARTINSVILLE, July 5.—The July term of the Henry County Circuit court opened here this morning with a moderate docket, which is featured by two murder cases. The grand jury has been selected but at noon no indictments had been returned.

(By The Associated Press)

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S TRAIN, July 5.—President Harding approached the end of his trip today and before night will set out for his goal—the territory of brought in. Stone was charged with murdering Constable Hughes. Mitchell about a year ago, will probably be tried in his absence at the present term since he has been at large since that time, his whereabouts being unknown. Brown made his escape after shooting down the constable, who had previously arrested him on a liquor charge. Nothing has been heard of the man since.

The other murder case is the one against the man charged with killing Police Officer Frame several months ago near Bassett. Similar circumstances surrounded this killing. A quantity of liquor had been found at Stone's house. When Officer Frame took the man to Marysville and was returning to arrest Stone, he met the man in the road. Stone shot him dead in his car.

There are about forty whisky cars to be sold during the present term of court.

Two Liquor Hauls.

Alaska

Alaska planned to spend five hours in Tacoma before sailing on the U. S. S. Henderson from that port.

The programme planned provided for a reception at the hotel and a visit to the United States Veterans hospital. The ship will then be set for sailing and Mrs. Harding will receive wishes for a "bon voyage" from Governor Hart, of Washington at ceremonies held in the stadium.

Appropriate acknowledgements have already been prepared and the last acts will be to greet the school children of the city massed for the occasion in the stadium.

The Henderson is scheduled to sail at 4 p. m. on the first stop expected at Tacoma where the transport is due Sunday.

The president has let it be known to members of his party that the voyage will be devoted to rest and enjoyment. He has also promised a diversion from the strenuous two weeks' trip from coast to coast.

Henry County outlaws made no liquor hauls within the past several days. John Osborne, of Grassy Creek, was arrested by Officers Anthony and Bacon, after they had found a large copper still and six gallons of whiskey on his place.

Robert McBride was captured by Special Officer Bonovan with six gal-

by a score of 10 to 5. Good baseball dropped up at times, but the time of the game was a large number of vacant seats in the grandstands and a complete nothingness in the bleachers, but many a good dollar has been spent for some of the comedians who have been compared to the laughs the small crowd present received from the antics of the players, officiating umpires and others connected with the Legion-Rose Bowl.

An outstanding and uproarious feature of the game was the manner in which Matt Nelson and Bill Ruffin, the ump's, handled the game, the remarks of the players and the other perplexities that bobbed up. In fact Nick Altrock's day as a baseball comedian would have been over had the score or more of big league players who had been in the game arrived. It might have also been a good day for a circus scout to have hit the city. He undoubtedly would have taken on several of the performers on the diamond and in the grandstands, as high-salaried clown-comedians.

As proposed there will be four sheds of concrete foundation, each 800 feet long. Four sheds are requested as they will take that number of automobiles at a time, and will lead into the local yard. The sheds should be 800 feet long, it is said, so that they will cover a train carrying as many as 12 or 14 cars, and also provide a place for the engine and a train that approaches from either direction.

Danville is fast becoming one of the leading passenger transfer centers of this section, as the new roads to the Norfolk and Richmond divisions and the Danville and Western main line, and connecting with the Southern main line here, and umbrella sheds are necessary, and especially a passenger shed, and especially at a transfer center.

The general superintendent in speaking of the proposed plan said that one handicap to the project is the decrease in revenue suffered by the railroads during the past year. Although nothing has been

Meat Eating Increases in Countries of Far East

Goodrich of Far East

MANILA, July 4.—The Far East, especially Japan, is eating more meat than in former years, according to D. A. Cameron and H. E. Powell, representatives of the Australasian Meat Council at Sydney, who have come to the Philippines to make an investigation with a view to increasing meat shipments of the archipelago.

"There is a great demand for meat in the Far East," said Mr. Cameron. "The Far East countries can not supply this demand and we believe that we can supply them with surplus." They can furnish approximately 50,000 tons of meat yearly.

"Lean meats are sent from Australia to the other countries, the fatter meats going to the islands. Not all countries want to buy the frozen meats. Java, for instance, likes to do her own killing, and West Java is a country made up of that country in live bullocks.

POSSES SEARCH FOR NEGRO WHO MADE ASSAULT

(By The Associated Press)
MACON, Ga., July 4.—Posses are tonight hunting for a negro who today attacked on the most prominent white woman of Wellston, Houston county.

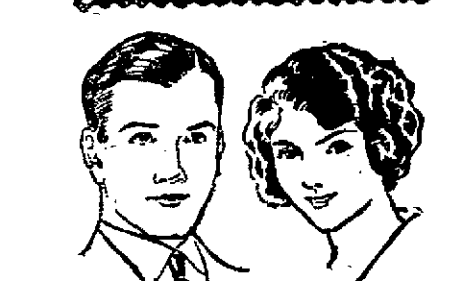

The woman, a widow, was found unconscious tonight in her home by her son. She had returned home by train and was attacked by the negro who was hiding inside of the house. Sheriff T. S. Chapman and a number of deputies from Houston county are in pursuit. Bloodhounds have been obtained from Crawford county. When the widow regained consciousness she was unable to give the officers working on the case any description of the negro. At mid-night Pulaski county dogs were en route to Wellston, the officers finding that these could be obtained quicker than the Crawford county dogs.

NERVOUS WOMAN COMPLETE WRECK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"Now I want to tell you just what induced me to take your medicine. It seemed that I had some kind of weakness so that I could not carry a child full time. The last time I was troubled this way I had a nervous breakdown and was a complete wreck. The doctor thought I would not live, and if I did that I would never be well and strong again. But I told them I was going to get well, that I was not going to die just then. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took six bottles of it. I soon got strong again and had three more children. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound ever since, and if you could see me now you would think I had always been well."—Mrs. Mary F. Henshaw, 234 Detroit St., Indianapolis, Ind.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire reproductive system, so that it may work in every respect effectively as nature intends.

Fourth Of July Celebrated By Danville Folk

The people of Danville celebrated the Fourth of July in the usual manner, with a display of fireworks and a parade of the city.

The display of the National flag and of other bunting was rather more noteworthy than usual and added to the holiday effect of the streets, with their crowds of well dressed pedestrians. The federal building, of course had old Glory spread to the flagpole, while the Municipal building had its big flag gracefully drooping from its staff. Liferman's store was attractively decorated with large flags and with window bunting display, while the Hotel Burton was gay from street to roof on both Main and Union street sides with smaller flags protruding from many windows. Eldridge's flower store, the West End pharmacy and other business houses displayed the flag, the decoration at the West End being particularly striking, large flags being draped in the double row around a copy of the Declaration. The Leeland hotel was handsomely decorated with large flags. On Union street the New York pool-room had a big American flag draped in front of it.

Up-town, not a few residences had their flags displayed and the effect was quite pretty, even though there was nothing approximating a profusion of flags. Several buildings with staves intended for flags were striking in the lack of the patriotic bunting.

The baseball game in the morning in which the Danville team lost to Greensboro was attended by about a thousand people, while hundreds from this city went to Greensboro to witness the afternoon game. By a freak of chance the local baseball team lost at home while Greensboro was beaten in that city by the Danville team in the afternoon game. Thus honors were easy, but it was regrettable that the Tobaccoists did not win the home game before the large and enthusiastic crowd which turned out, even at the early hour.

Park Springs, a near-by resort, with its dancing pavilion, swimming pool and other diversions attracted a large crowd from this city, who motored out in the early afternoon. It was estimated that nearly 2,000 visited that resort during the day. The Coast Artillery band went over to South Boston to play for the celebration, in that town. Some from Danville went out to Brookville to attend a celebration there, while the neighboring cities and the seashore resorts attracted large crowds, including many from this city. In the afternoon a great many went to Greensboro, enjoying the ride as well as the ball game.

Thousands of people were out in cars, and many drove far into the country to enjoy the coolness of exhilarating motion and the rural shades. Not a few picnic parties went out for the day and some availed themselves of the opportunity to "wet a line" and try to coax the fish into some manifestation of interest.

Camp Roilick was visited by many of the boys and youths while others went to the streams and the woods for a day or at least an afternoon out of doors.

It was a weary but satisfied and even happy throng which trooped back to the city and to the widely dispersed homes as the long, warm, sultry day closed.

GRETTA NEWS NOTES.
GRETTA, Va., July 4.—Judging from the crowd already in Gretna at this writing, 9 a. m., it seems that as many or more people will be here today than ever before, although Gretna has had several very large crowds on different occasions, one of which was last July 4th.

Parades were made in the midst of wind threatening and while the yield will not be very large, the quality is good. Corn and tobacco are looking reasonable well, considering the late spring and dry weather.

Robert Snodgrass, who was run down and injured by an automobile on Main street several weeks ago, is able to be on the streets again but on crutches. His son who was injured at the same time has fully recovered.

—Turner Hamlin left last night for Asheville to spend the Fourth with Mrs. Hamlin, who with Mrs. P. S. Conway, is spending the summer there.

—W. E. Jefferson, who has been sick for some time, is recuperating at Patrick Springs this week.

Physician Makes Beauties Out of Ugly Ducklings

BY GEORGE BRITT
(Special to The Bee)
CHICAGO, July 4.—Chatter up. Ugly Ducklings. The Swans have their worries, too.

For proof, listen to the history of the Man With the Enormous Nose. It was a colossal beak of a nose. But in spite of it the man won the heart of a girl in his village back in Europe. Then he came to America to make his fortune while she waited at home. Wealth came. His first move was to "tuck" his nose to a plastic surgeon and have it pared down and reshaped. Then he returned to claim his bride.

"No, no," she sobbed. "My man had a grand, big nose. You cannot be he. I will not marry you. I will not. Get out."

Nasal Art.
"And the story is absolutely true; no fable about it," declares Dr. W. H. B. Basinger, a master of plastic surgery, who tells the experience. He talks about his art from a practice of many years in reshaping not only the faces but the careers of hundreds of patients.

"There are no happier in many cases with smooth, symmetrical features than they were before. Of course, their appearance is improved. There are actors whose careers have made possible by straightening an impossible crooked nose. I have prolonged the stardom of actresses by removing the wrinkles which told of age. I have helped girls win lovers and wives and cover husbands simply by giving them the beauty they were missing. And I have restored soldiers who were disfigured in battle."

"But in many cases they begin immediately to discover new causes for worry."

"There was an elderly man who came to me and I made him look 15 years younger. He admitted it and was delighted. About six months later, though, he said he was disappointed."

"Oh, Daddy?"
"It's just one thing that's the matter," he said. "The young fellows at the office still call me Dad."

There is a patient comes to his office, Dr. Basinger says, it is impossible to be certain from appearances what alterations are desired. The person may have a nose which constitutes deformity or ears which protrude distressingly, and still be aware only of wrinkles on the forehead. Often people overlook a great defect in appearance while painfully conscious of a minor one.

"Now and then a woman patient wants good looks in order to win a man."

"It was a case of that sort which makes the inside story of one of the most widely published newspaper tragedies in years. A man of national prominence had forsaken his wife for the lure of a youthful beauty."

Large Crowd Heard Fight Returns Here

Nearly a thousand persons gathered yesterday afternoon in front of the Register-Bee building to hear the return of the Dempsey-Gibbons prizefight at Shelby, Montana. Notwithstanding the fact that the fight actually did not begin until after five o'clock the crowd gathered early and at 6 o'clock the first stories from the ring-side were carried over the Associated Press leased wire and which was set up in the lobby of the office. The service rendered was immediate and the Associated Press as usual rendered excellent service. The Associated Press reported that at the ringside at Shelby and transmitted his story of the fight blow by blow to the operator seated beside him. This gave immediate service to the fans and the crowd outside the Register office could not have gotten the results quicker had they been just outside the big arena at Shelby.

Sympathy of the crowd appeared to be strongly for Gibbons as there were vociferous cheers every time announcement was made of a telling blow by the contender.

EDDIE HEARNE WINS SPEEDWAY
(By The Associated Press)
SPEEDWAY, KANSAS CITY, July 4.—Racing at the new speedway, Eddie Hearne, of Kansas City, won the 250 mile national championship automobile race at the Kansas City Speedway here today.

Hearne finished eight laps ahead of Earl Cooper, who placed second. Cooper's time was 2:27:33.35. Harlan Fengler finished third in 2:44:54.58. It was Fengler's maiden race. The average speed was 9.95 miles an hour.

Dave Lewis was fourth with a time of 3:02:26. Only five of the twelve cars which started finished the race, seven being forced out by motor trouble. Only one accident marked the race, but there were no injuries. Near the end of the 105th lap, a rear tire on the car driven by Harry Hartz blew out and swerved his car through the inside railing at the far turn. The car turned around several times but Hartz was unscathed.

Jim Murphy, last year's national champion, was forced out at the end of the 144th lap. Murphy had led the race up to the 137th lap. Ralph Harman led at the twenty-five mile mark with an average speed of 10.5 miles an hour, but the pace began increasing and Jim Murphy was in the lead at fifty miles, with an average speed of 11.3 miles an hour. The crushing speed at which the cars were pushed was too great a strain on the little motors, according to drivers.

Hearne took $3,000 as the first 200 laps from Jocko's 123 second place, Harlan Fengler $2,500 and Dave Lewis $1,750.

Hearne, who was fifth in the national rating, with 342 points, added 500 to his total and placed second to Jimmy Murphy.

Child-birth
Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!
When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in the science, has shown the way. It was he who first brought the great remedy, "Mother's Friend," Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., to the world.

With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments. With my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse. We had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes. "Mother's Friend" is our mothers and grandmothers' old friend. It's safe, sure, and it's the best thing for the mother and the child. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., R. 4, Atlanta, Ga., for a free literature. It contains information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

DR. W. E. BASINGER
"The wife was past 40 and showed it. She came to me, and I fixed her up. She looked fine—no double chin, no drooping cheeks, no wrinkles. And her husband returned to her."

"Then the mockery came. The other woman refused to be forsaken, and she shot the husband."

An operation to correct facial defects is just like putting on a new suit of clothes, according to Dr. Basinger. Improved appearance usually will give increased confidence and greater attractiveness. But the new suit must be properly fitted, and the wearer must not expect it to cover every defect of personality.

Voliva Visions "Superman" As World's Ruler

CHICAGO, July 4.—A Superman, of the type of Napoleon or Mussolini, soon is to arise out of the world's chaotic condition, to lead the world to peace and to the second coming of Christ, Wilbur Glenn Voliva, Overseer of Zion City, seat of the cult founded by Dr. Dowd, and successor to Dr. Dowd, has predicted.

The Superman will come with soft words and flattery, as did Mussolini when he captured Italy without firing a shot, Voliva declared. He will be the man the world is looking for, and Europe will welcome him with open arms; he will be the man to put down the Reds, to form a stable government among the allied nations and issue a universal currency, with his own image thereon.

Welcomed by Church.
Most surprising of all, Voliva predicted, the churches will welcome him as a God-sent messenger. The man will make a covenant with the Jews and will set up his image in the temple at Jerusalem for three and one-half years.

"He will then show his colors," Voliva exclaimed, "and reveal himself as the anti-Christ, compelling the people to bow down and worship his image, under penalty of death for refusal."

"While you and I are looking for the Christ and expecting Him," said Voliva, "hundreds of millions are waiting for the appearance of the Superman, who will be the anti-Christ."

"As to whether this man might be Mussolini, that makes no difference. One thing is certain, he is the one figure that now stands head and shoulders above all the other figures in the world today; and he may prepare the way for the appearance of some other man. The Bible plainly teaches that that man will be the 'little horn' that will arise among the ten horns (the ten nations of Western Europe); that he will be the 'beast' of Revelation. He will rule over the ten nations of Western Europe—among them Italy and France."

"This man will appear on the same day the Christ comes. He will run his course in exactly seven years. During the first three and one-half years we will have the tribulation; during the last three and one-half years we will have the great tribulation."

"You will observe that there is a widespread propaganda to dispense with Jesus Christ. This has to be in order to prepare the way for the anti-Christ. First of all, they must get rid of Christ."

"Simultaneously with the coming of the Lord for the Church this man for whom the world is looking will appear. No doubt Mussolini has written the first chapters. They are looking for the appearance of this man at any time; and so am I—for I do not know of anything, except a little more extended fulfillment of the prophecies, that can delay the second coming of our Lord."

Voliva quoted a long list of Scripture verses in support of his argument regarding the Superman.

PLAY STARTS IN GOLF TOURNEY
(By The Associated Press)
HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 4.—Match play in the state golf championship tournament was started on the local course today, when the players in the first flight teed off under favorable conditions and a burning sun. The day's play held very little excitement, although the contestants played steady golf.

Chief interest in today's contest centered in the match between John W. James and Paul P. Jamison. James finally defeated his opponent one up, but he went twenty holes to accomplish the feat. They reached the 15th with even cards, and halved the next one. James won the twentieth by a narrow margin.

At noon the golfers, with other visitors, assembled to hear the address by former Senator Chauncey M. Depew. Model play in the women's division of the tournament was started this afternoon with a large number of players listed for the qualifying rounds.

ASK CHANGE OF SEASON.

At the recent special session of the legislature of Virginia, a joint resolution was adopted by the General Assembly, petitioning the Secretary of Agriculture to change the season for shooting wild waterfowl. The resolution was offered by Delegate Alfred C. Smith, of Norfolk county. It is of interest to all hunters, and reads as follows:

"Whereas, the open season prescribed by the Federal migratory bird treaty act regulations for the shooting of waterfowl in Virginia waters is from November 1st to January 30th; and

"Whereas, the climatic conditions in Virginia are such that the waterfowl protected by said regulations are not found in Virginia in great numbers during the said open season aforesaid, but are found after January 1st; now, therefore,

"Be it resolved (by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring), That the Secretary of Agriculture be and he is hereby requested to take such steps as may be necessary to change the regulations to conform closely with the conditions as they exist in Virginia by letting the open season begin on November 15th and expire on February 15th of each year."

"Be it resolved, That the Speaker of the House be authorized to appoint one member of the House, and the President of the Senate appoint one member of the Senate, to constitute a committee of two to present these resolutions to the Secretary of Agriculture without expense to the State."

After the Senate had concurred in the resolution, Speaker Brewer named Delegate Smith, of Norfolk county, as the House committee member to convey the resolution to the Secretary of Agriculture.

TWO ARE KILLED IN FIGHT WITH SHERIFF

(By The Associated Press)
LINCOLN, Ga., July 4.—In a gun battle on the outskirts of Lincoln today, Frank and Wayne Cullers, young farmers of this section, were shot to death by Sheriff W. S. Harrison, of Lincoln county. The shooting is reported to have followed a violent fight between the two young farmers and the county sheriff and R. L. Burgess, another farmer.

Reports added that the Cullers brothers were arrested this morning on a charge of drunkenness and when released became engaged in the fight. They died almost instantly.

Eating of Berries, Murder Case Test

Paris Police Employ Odd Third Degree Methods to Shake Nerves of a Suspect—"Find the Body," He Sneers.

PARIS, July 3.—France has a new mystery which promises to provide an endless topic of conversation. It is the disappearance of Municipal Councillor Quémener of Finistère six weeks ago.

A few days ago the suspicions of the police fastened on one Guillaume Sezenec, once a camp follower of the A. E. F. It is established Sezenec in May offered to drive Quémener to Paris in his automobile. The Councillor, who had 10,000 francs, never got to Paris, so far as he is concerned.

The third degree methods of the French police have been unsparingly applied. Now Sezenec sits muttering: "If you think I killed him, find the body; let me see you find the body. The police want to work on the subject Saturday morning. They simply invited him to tell his story. Every detail of the trip from Finistère was noted, including numerous breakdowns of the car. Quémener finally became so tired that these breakdowns that he decided to take the train at Dreux for the rest of the journey. Sezenec declared, adding: "I never saw him again."

Took Him Back Over Route. When he had finished his story, the police began their questioning and kept it up all day and night. Then they gave him a few hours sleep and began again. They never shook his calm, even when they told him there had been no train for Paris out of Dreux after the time he said he got there. "It must have been at Houdan then that he went," the suspect said. Suddenly he made a break for the door. He was brought back, quivering and muttering, "I have done nothing; my hands are clean."

Finally with police dogs and trackers, Sezenec was taken over the route he had described. At one spot a dog brought out a rag splattered with old brown stains that will be examined to see if they are blood. An inspector shook it under Sezenec's nose, but he said nothing.

They took him to the little hotel in Houdan where he says he dined with Quémener. The proprietor remembered Sezenec and said he had a poor appetite, eating only some strawberries and cream. Overlooking nothing, the police gave him some more strawberries and cream. Nothing happened.

At the next village they found the garage where Sezenec showed up alone the morning after he says he took Quémener to the station. He had taken all night to come four miles and explained another breakdown held him up. Near the place he says he stopped the police found brown stains in the macadam. They dug them up to be analyzed for blood. The gendarmes remembered Sezenec and said that on one of the oil cans in the car was a splash of blood. He called Sezenec's attention to it and the man seemed upset. Now he explains he cut himself trying to make repairs in the dark.

Sezenec was brought back to Paris. Here circumstantial evidence against him is being piled up and hurled at him in the form of question. To every contradiction in his narrative, he merely shrugs his shoulders. So at the end of the day's examination he was formally arrested. Until then he was only "detained." Still he mutters only "Find the body."

New Clock For Postoffice Will Be Requested

The postoffice clock which for the past few years has been giving more or less constant trouble went on strike again today. Surviving Independence Day, the hands refused to budge after reaching 2:20 a. m. and there they remained most of the morning.

Postmaster Frank Lumpkin who was asked for a diagnosis of the clock's latest ailment said that so far as he could ascertain it was suffering from chronic battery trouble. He explained that the clock which was installed in the year 1915 is an electrically controlled clock and that there has been a good deal of trouble caused by the batteries. He said this morning that it was his intention of bringing the postoffice clock to the attention of the Postoffice Department without delay and that he would try to have the clock replaced by one that is more serviceable. As the postmaster recalled it, the time piece was installed shortly after his former commission expired. It cost in the neighborhood of $6,000.

For nearly months the clock dial facing north has remained inactive and the mechanism moving the hands on that dial was disconnected some months ago. Repeated rains have beaten against the dial and this has resulted in a coating of rust jamming the spindle which penetrates the center of the clock face.

The postoffice clock trouble has been before the federal department on a good many occasions but no remedial action has been afforded on account of the expense involved in the condition. What the postmaster wants is an inspection by some agent of the department to whom the shortcomings of the timepiece can be explained.

Fireworks Are Cause Of Many Deaths In Land

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, July 4.—Ten deaths and numerous injuries were the price which fireworks and Independence Day celebrations exacted in the country this year, in spite of the strictest of safety advocates to accomplish a safe and sane Fourth of July.

Those killed were children and youths. Four died in Pittsburgh as a result of pre-holiday celebrations. One child, 13, of Danville, Ill., was killed when a gas pipe loaded with powder exploded and Joseph Javarone of Gloversville, N. Y., died from burns which he sustained when a fire cracker exploded in his pocket.

Marcus Sayer, two years old, of Jacksonville, Ill., died last night after swallowing chemicals in fire works. At Dixon, Ill., Ernest Starkey, 12, a boy scout of Peru, Ill., was drowned in the Rock River while attempting to save a companion.

In New York City, Peter Vercelli was shot and killed when a pistol in the hands of his chum exploded accidentally. Francis Gordon succumbed to heart failure when a giant fire cracker exploded under his feet. Ten persons were injured there.

Numerous accidents, which resulted in injuries were reported from scattered parts of the country. In St. Louis, 61 persons, mostly children, were injured by fire works.

In Chicago a can of carbide exploded and tore off part of a boy's jaw knocked out his upper teeth. Another small boy shot himself in the leg while cleaning a pistol. One woman was shot in the thigh when a fire cracker exploded in her hand and another was wounded in the thigh by the explosion of a cartridge which boys had placed on a street car track.

Trick In Sing Sing Nearly Frees Man

NEW YORK, July 5.—Although Warden Lawes refused to say why Arthur Stanger, a prisoner, was locked in an isolation cell in Sing Sing yesterday, four state employees alleged that it was because he fixed parole papers so that Benjamin Abrahamson, a Manhattan burglar, with a new sentence of five years to serve, nearly was released.

The papers in Abrahamson's case were passed to the State Board of Parole in the prison, after their preparation by Stanger as an assistant to a prison employee. The information of Abrahamson's new five-year term was withheld, it is alleged, and he was ordered paroled.

Abrahamson had defied his prison uniform. It is said, and William Bentley, State Comptroller's agent, was preparing to hand him the $10 release allowance when an attendant, checking up the commitment papers, discovered the record of the new term.

Warden Lawes said he could not discuss Stanger's confinement, "because to do so now might prevent what we are trying to do." He said only two persons knew why the action was taken. Another State employee said $500 was recently deposited to Stanger's account and efforts are being made to determine if the benefactor aided in Abrahamson's interest.

Miss Katie Green Guerrant is moving with friends in the Blue Sky Center and will remain away for about a week.

Says Ford Plans To Bring Railway Through Danville

Dr. R. D. Griffith who came here Tuesday evening in a small car rigged like a ship and who is advocating the election of Henry Ford for president as well as Dr. Royal Copeland, a New York for the vice president, stated today that Mr. Ford is interested in bringing a new railway through Danville. This information was volunteered by Dr. Griffith who says he is from New York and who claims that his expedition is sponsored by the New York Ford-for-president Club. The visitor declared that the automobile manufacturer is desirous of opening access from coal fields he owns to Norfolk and that so far he has been unable to obtain the cooperation of the interest of the officials of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. Dr. Griffith made the further assertion that Mr. Ford will be here in a few days in the interest of the new proposed railway and that he will discuss the project with local officials.

According to Dr. Griffith Mr. Ford at present owns a railway line forming a junction between Cincinnati and Portsmouth, Ohio, and that as now proposes to link up Portsmouth with Norfolk Va., by building a railway to Hillsville in Carroll county and from there to Martinsville, thence to Danville which is already connected to the Seaboard by rail. Asked to what extent the project has been developed, Dr. Griffith asserted that Mr. Ford was having a survey made of the territory between Portsmouth and Danville. Dr. Griffith said he was "authorized to speak" for Mr. Ford. He is leaving today for Norfolk.

New Instrument Is Installed At Broadway Theater

Patrons gathered in the Broadway theatre will not only see a film drama presented on the screen, but will hear the action, as it were, interpreted through the notes of the wonderful orchestral pipe organ just installed and put into use in the local playhouse yesterday.

Fundamentals of pipe organ playing were demonstrated yesterday afternoon and last evening were entertained delightfully with organ recitals rendered by Aubrey C. F. Westerman, N. A. O. of New York and London, who was formally connected for several years as demonstrator and instructor for the Robert-Morton Pipe Organ Company. Mr. Westerman's ministrations on the organ were, of course, beyond criticism. Where the action of "Sun Deep" was full of surge and power the tones of the organ thrilled the scene with a wonderful fidelity. Whether the situation was terrifying, or pathetic, or sublime in each case Mr. Westerman "made the organ talk" as one of those who heard the music last evening remarked.

Through the Broadway theatre sounding out of the $10,000 Robert-Morton pipe organ.

Several weeks were required for the installation of the organ, the work being carried under the direction of A. Sampson, of New York, an expert.

This organ is of the "two-manual and pedal" type with a 15' Bourdon and 8' open diapason, the equivalent of a "great flute." Included in the composition of the organ are cello, viola, violin, piccolo, flute, tuba, salicorne, xylophone, chimes, bells, chimes, cymbals, triangle, tambourine, bird whistles, electric bells, snare drum, bass drum, tympani and triangle.

STOCK MARKET (By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, July 5.—Confusing price movements took place at the opening of the market. U. S. Steel, Borden, Standard Oil and American Can were all relatively higher while Lima Locomotive advanced one and a quarter and Steel and Tube preferred one. Independent steels were heavy. Crucible advanced a point to a new low for the year. American Car also touched a new low record.

RECORD IS SHATTERED (By The Associated Press) RYE, N. Y., July 4.—Gertrude Ederle of the Women's Swimming Association today shattered her own world's record for 220 yards, free style in open water, when she won the metropolitan championship at this distance. Her time of 2 minutes 49 seconds, was one fifth of a second faster than the mark she established last year.

Good Morning Judge!

The absence of drunks in the police court this morning indicated that those addicted to the use of intoxicating beverages did not celebrate the fourth in their usual way. Ordinarily by docket in the court following a holiday is filled with cases of drunkenness but this morning only two such cases were dealt with.

One was just a plain drunk on the street but in the other, a negro is alleged to have procured his pistol and to have begun shooting promiscuously about his neighborhood, frightening the residents. He was Frank Archer. Complaint was made to the police yesterday afternoon that Archer was drunk and had a pistol, handing it in a very careless manner. Archer claimed the gun went off accidentally only once. He was fined $10 and costs for the shooting and an additional $11 and costs for being drunk. A charge of concealed weapons was dismissed, since Archer kept it in play too much to have it concealed.

Larceny and assault cases comprised the remainder of the docket. After a lengthy hearing a case against Annie Belle, colored, charging her with stealing $170 worth of wearing apparel was dismissed for lack of evidence. The evidence was that while Ethel Belle was in jail her trunk was broken open and all of her clothing stolen. Annie Moore was her room mate. She was seen wearing some of the clothes and this led to her arrest. The Moore negroes stated that she returned home one day and found the trunk broken open and most of the articles taken. She said that some of the clothes were lying in the floor and that she took them in charge for her roommate until she got out of jail.

John Fry, colored, alias John Fitzgerald, was also acquitted of a charge of taking $20.00 from Estelle Branch. Lack of evidence also resulted in the dismissal of this case. Lucille Russell, colored, was fined six dollars and costs for an alleged assault on Lucy Moore. Some bad words are alleged to have passed between the two and the former is alleged to have hurled a pan of dirt and bats on the Moore woman's porch.

John Church and Belle White, colored, were assessed $21.00 and costs on statutory charges. A warrant charging Clarence Shelton with the theft of $5.00 from Zane Harper, was dismissed at payment of costs.

Miss Elizabeth Gwynn was not present to answer a charge of violating the traffic ordinance.

Baldness, Obesity, Not Modern Curse

LIMA, O., July 5.—Cures for baldness and systems for reducing weights were advertised so far back as 1775. A medical book, compiled by John Wesley, of Methodist fame on display in the Hardin County Court-house, gives the following advice to bald men of long ago:

"Use a stout vegetable diet. I know one who was entirely cured of this by living thus: She breakfasted and supped milk and water (with bread) and dined on turnips, carrots and other roots, drinking water."

Spokane Man Pulled Prize Bone At Shelby

(By Chicago Tribune Service) SHELBY, Mont., July 4.—The champion boner of the day was pulled by a large Spokane gentleman with an increasing thirst. He had something on the hip and in the overcrowded town could not find a place in which he could drink it in private. Finally he stepped into an office and said: "Gentlemen, if you don't mind I would like to take a drink. I'm afraid to take it in the street for fear the enforcement officers will see me."

After pulling a beer from the bottle he started to retire only to learn he was using the office of Prohibition Enforcement Officer Lusy.

The champion game fellows of this affair were Johnny and "Tip" O'Neill of Great Falls, who bought about twenty thousand dollars worth of tickets to ensure the bringing in of the best to Shelby. While others were pouring tickets onto the market and selling at cut prices, the O'Neills holed a pocket each out of the sack and left the rest at Great Falls to give the promoters a chance to sell at box office rates.

COTTON MARKET (By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, July 5.—The selling movement which was underway on the cotton market before the holiday, was resumed this morning. Cables were lower than day while reports indicated that conditions had been favorable for the crop over the fourth and advices from the good market showed no improvement. The market opened easy at a decline of 2 to 2 1/2 points and showed net losses of 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 points during the early trading under hurried liquidation.

Cotton futures opened easy:

Cronkhite Case To Be Dropped By Government

Department of Justice Reported to Have Ordered Investigation Stopped—Further Action Is Up to Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Federal government has thrown up its hands in the case of Major Alexander P. Cronkhite, who was killed under mysterious circumstances at Camp Lewis, Washington, in 1918 and will prosecute the matter no further.

Instructions have been issued by the Department of Justice to drop the case, and Secretary of War John Weeks, who had the facts examined so far as the military records give them, had already announced that he would be guided in any further action by the course of the Department of Justice.

This means that if the whole truth of this tragic case is ever revealed to the public it will probably be through a Congressional inquiry. Friends of Major-General Adelbert Cronkhite, U. S. A., whose retirement from active army service was ordered when he resisted upon time to make an investigation of his boy's death, will bring the case before Congress this winter. It is learned today.

Meanwhile Sergeant Robert Pothier, who confessed on three separate occasions that he killed his superior officer, each confession differing widely as to what happened and who is under indictment for the murder of Cronkhite, will be released from custody in Providence, R. I., probably the end of this week.

Captain Robert Rosenbluth, of New York, the only other man present at the time Major Cronkhite was killed, who also was under indictment, already has been given his liberty under bond and it is probable that he will be discharged without bail within a short time.

The decision of the Department of Justice to pursue the Cronkhite case no further was reached after the United States Circuit Court of Appeals had held in the Pothier case that the Federal court in the State of Washington had no jurisdiction over the matter since the killing of Major Cronkhite took place on the premises of Camp Lewis before the government had taken title to the property. The court held that it was a matter for the State courts to deal with.

It was still possible, however, for the government to carry the case to the United States Supreme court on appeal. For several days after the Circuit court had acted the officials of the department seemed in doubt as to the next move.

Instructions have now gone forward, however, to the United States District Attorney at Providence to drop the matter and ask the Federal court there to release Pothier. Word to this effect was brought to Washington today by Major Davis Arnold, counsel for Pothier, who is here as General O'Ryan's counsel in the Veterans' Bureau investigation.

MARTINSVILLE CELEBRATES

(Special to The Bee.) MARTINSVILLE, Va., July 5.—The Fourth of July was observed in orderly fashion here yesterday. The town was decorated and the holiday was generally observed by the mercantile establishments. At the baseball game, Martinsville defeated Draper, 12 to 6. A large number of colored people came here to celebrate the day, a baseball game being played, the day closing with a big dance in a colored dance hall.

Well known Lynchburg Citizen Gains 35 Lbs. on Tanlac.

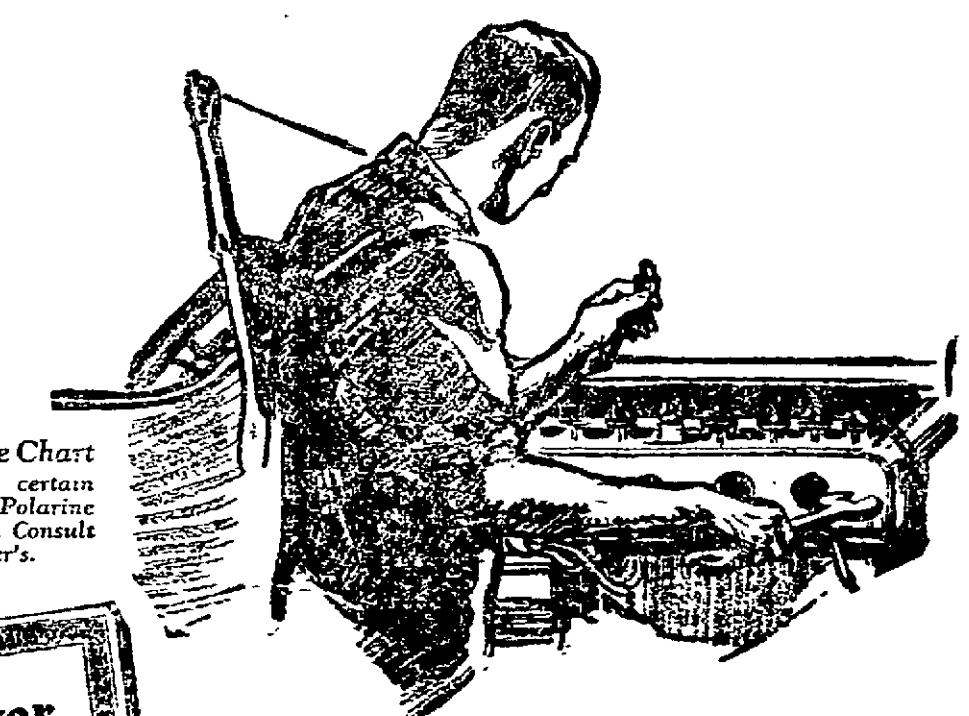

"Three years ago Tanlac restored me to perfect health, with a gain of 35 pounds in weight and I've been feeling fine ever since," said W. M. Eubank, 200 Wall street, Lynchburg, Va., popular floor manager of the Lynchburg City Market.

Flu and pneumonia left me so run down that I lost nearly three months from my work and was unfit to do anything. I had no appetite, what I did eat always caused gas to form on my stomach and I could hardly ever lie down at night without having awful suffocating spells. I was also extremely nervous and often had dizzy spells when everything would turn black before my eyes.

Tanlac has put me back on my feet in such fine shape. I haven't missed a meal or a day from work in three years."

Whipple Says the Lawyers Are More Business-Like Now

(By The Associated Press)

NATURAL BRIDGE, V., July 4.—Although the attendance at the Virginia State Bar Association, which closed its annual meeting here tonight with a banquet, was not as large as it was at previous meetings, those present were unanimous in saying that the event has proved the most enjoyable held in several years.

The "face" of meeting next year was left to the decision of the executive committee, with Winchester a strong bidder.

An address by Sherman L. Whipple, of Boston, formerly general counsel of the United States Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation, at the opening session, his talk dealing with commercialization of the legal profession. A resolution was passed deploring and resenting the "unjust and unbecoming" attacks on the chief justice of the United States because of his acceptance of a legacy left him by Andrew Carnegie.

The resolution, introduced by Thomas W. Shenton of Norfolk, follows:

"The Virginia State Bar Association deplors and resents the unjust and unbecoming attacks upon the chief justice of the United States because of his acceptance of a legacy left him by Andrew Carnegie. The resolution, introduced by Thomas W. Shenton of Norfolk, follows:

At the annual banquet tonight addresses were made by Harry St. George Tucker of Lexington, and Judge Phillips. P. Burton, retiring president, and others. The remarks of President Burton referred to the similarity between the history of Massachusetts and Virginia and to the friendship which existed between John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, whose deaths it was recalled, occurred on the same day, July 4, 1826.

In referring to his reasons for not seeking the federal constitution Mr. Whipple said that "Congress has adjourned, the president is swinging around the globe and the vacation season is on, so on the whole that old maxim, 'the country is the best place to be in' seems for the moment to be in no critical danger."

Mr. Whipple said that the legal profession has become "rationalized" and of course, he said, that the changes which have brought about an experience of the profession from the scholastic of tradition will prove of benefit to society. He said that the old manner of passing and that the lawyers and judges no longer hold a monopoly of the brains of the nation.

Mr. Whipple said that lawyers are more business-like today than was formerly the case. He said that the profession from the cloistered principles of pedantry to take a hand in commercial affairs was a step best calculated to benefit society. He credited the country with being responsible for the feeling in some quarters that attorneys should confine their activities to the profession and look upon the fee as a side issue, and honorarium to be accepted as a gift. It was, he said, the pretense he placed in discord for a policy of sincerity and directness.

MANY FATALITIES FROM SLEEPING SICKNESS OCCUR

ATLANTIC CITY, July 4.—Sleep sickness as a fundamental cause of mental and moral delinquency among both children and adults was advanced by Dr. P. Richey Horner, chief of the neurological staff of the Atlantic City Hospital, in an address today before the American Institute of Homeopathy. Although science has been unable to determine the cause of encephalitis lethargica or to discover a cure for it, statistics show clearly its dread effect, Dr. Horner said. Of 25 children between 11 months and 3 years old who suffered attacks, 11 became imbeciles, one developed shaking palsy, on became a thief, an incorrigible, three are in schools for mental defective, and the rest of the children became subjects of some form of attacks of the disease.

The mortality rate, Dr. Horner estimated at 25 per cent, while 75 per cent are left with some degree of mental incapacity. He said that 10 per cent are otherwise incapacitated and only 10 per cent recover fully.

History of children who have been victims of sleeping sickness is a sad one, he said. He said that many of the patients are "wretched and helpless despite the fact that they are in the best of medical care."

The name sleeping sickness is really a misnomer, he said. The word "sleep" is a misnomer, he said. The word "sickness" is a misnomer, he said. The word "sleeping sickness" is a misnomer, he said.

MEXICAN WAR VETS PLAN BIG RALLY FOR FINAL SUMMONS

(Special to The Bee)

DANVILLE, Va., July 5.—A reunion this year of all veterans of the Mexican War!

That is the dream of every one of the 12 old men, still living who risked their lives in 46. It is especially the plan of William F. Buckner, 95, of this city.

He is trying to put into execution the thought expressed in a Memorial Day address, "to get in touch with the boys of 46 and have a grand old reunion before taps 1 sounded by the Supreme Bugler."

Le doubts the possibility of realizing this ambition. The 55 veterans, now carried on government pension rolls, are scattered over the country. All are old. They will not travel.

But in Danville, Virginia, in 1922, Buckner came to Missouri with his relatives.

The trip was made by wagon train, and he was 18 when the war broke, and he enlisted with Company A—volunteers recruited here. Buckner, married with two children, found his way to the front with a crutch, because of the late Champ Clark as "one of the greatest achievements in military history."

Returned to Paris, Buckner, after he had joined the 1st Cavalry, was killed in action in California, but failed to die.

Disillusioned, he returned here and again entered business, which he sold out in 1870 to accept a position of bookkeeper in a bank. He rose to the position of the third region of the nose.

We have also known that the application of cocaine to the area will immediately stop an attack, but not until recently have we realized the importance of these facts.

Other contributing factors may be present, such as infections of the nose, colds, hay fever, tonsils or appendix and the removal of these factors may produce a slight improvement, but a permanent cure cannot be effected until the underlying nasal infection has been removed.

Monroe O. Heald, dean emeritus of the Boston school of Medicine, said in an address that the various cures practiced by the medical profession are a mistake to public health.

He asserted that every State medical organization in the country should attempt to obtain legislation requiring an examination of all persons applying for a license to practice medicine, and that the method of healing should be a result of old-age superstitions and ignorance.

Dr. Sutherland announced that the American Institute of Homeopathy is in conjunction with other large medical organizations of the United States, was at the present time formulating standards to be used in such examinations.

Sutherland, when the reputable physician must conduct an educational campaign, in order to inform the public of the dangers of allowing quacks to continue to lead the ability of people to recognize disease.

Sufferers from contagious diseases are walking around, telling themselves they are getting "better and better every day in every way," and no one knows when they may be responsible for an epidemic that will take a heavy toll of life. Could these persons be examined only by doctors educated by years of experience and study in the art of healing many an epidemic could be averted.

That epilepsy can be cured by the administration of extracts of glands and not by the use of sedatives was the assertion of Dr. William Kern, noted Chicago endocrinologist, addressing the convention. Dr. Kern said that epilepsy is at the present time humanity's worst scourge, and that physicians should examine every case of epilepsy for evidence of diseased glands, and that treatment based on these findings will cure many cases now believed incurable.

COUNTESS MORONI GETS DIVORCE IN PROVIDENCE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 4.—The divorce petition of Countess Eleanor Curran of Rome, formerly New Orleans, was granted by Judge Greene, in the Superior Court here today on grounds of neglect to provide. The petition was heard on depositions of the Countess and two other witnesses. Joseph W. Grimes, counsel for the petitioner, stated that citation had been served on the respondent at Milan July 22.

The depositions of the Countess set forth the following facts: She was married to Count Girolamo Moroni at Irvington, N. Y., March 2, 1912. A second marriage, characterized as an "idle ceremony," was performed at Gasport, Miss., November 2, 1912, to satisfy the Count, an Italian citizen of Rome, who, by law, was required to obtain the consent of his King before wedding.

The couple have not been living together for the past three years, and while the Countess has passed at the Colli-Farm at Bristol, R. I., for several years, she has been living in the city of Rome, Italy.

The Countess is now 45 years of age, and is a native of Italy. She was born in the city of Rome, Italy, and is a native of Italy.

WILLIAM F. BUCKNER

President and was retired in 1912. When the Civil War was declared, Buckner engaged a substitute to serve in the Union army in his stead.

"While I did not approve of slavery, my conscience would not have let me take a fighting stand against the south—the land of my birth."

seven years the Count has not contributed to his wife's support, it is alleged, and she has given him no reason to fail to do so.

In March, 1915, the Count left his wife and in June of that year sailed for the Far East. She saw him at Milan last November, but there was no attempt at reconciliation. All alimony is waived.

DETERMINING CAR FARES A HAZARDOUS JOB

BERLIN, July 4.—Taxicab fares in Berlin are now seven thousand times the number of marks registered on the taximeters.

Taxicab drivers all carry printed tables showing the totals the multiple produces with various possible registrations on the indicator. Every time the multiple is changed there is endless confusion, and many disputes ensue which the police are often called upon to settle.

Clerks in shops are provided with similar tables in every trade, and the multiple which will be used in computing the price of articles is denoted by paper marks, as against the goldmark price.

Finances Caused Tendler Bout To Be Called Off

(By The Associated Press)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 4.—Financial troubles were to some extent the cause for calling off the fight, and Sallor Freedman, of Chicago, here today. Rain put the final touch to the matter, according to Dick Curley, manager of Freedman.

Despite the fact that the arena was more than half filled and that it was announced previous to the first preliminary that 15,000 persons passed through the gates, it was said that not enough money was on hand to fulfill the $15,000 guarantee made to Tendler. Curley stated tonight the lack of money was the original cause of Tendler's refusal to enter the ring but that this had been adjusted and the guarantee had been met. Tendler's final objection was the fact that it was raining and that the ring was wet and slippery, he said.

Previously to this Freedman had appeared in the ring and announced he was willing to fight. Several Chicago men, after investigating the trouble, started to collect a purse to make up whatever difference there was between the amount offered and the amount acceptable. A conference between Phil Glassman, acting for Tendler, Tendler himself and Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, was held but no announcement was forthcoming.

It was not known positively that all efforts to hold the fight was proved unavailing until it was ascertained that Tendler had gone back to Chicago. The crowd did not get the message but it did get a thorough drenching. The rain started at the beginning of the third preliminary and steadily increased until it became a downpour as this bout ended.

Then came a long wait with little or no information available. The announcer grew impatient and after asking the crowd to be patient, tarted for the "conference between the brawlers and Promoter Fitzsimmons. When he returned he announced that he was going home.

It was understood from those close to Fitzsimmons that $12,000 was offered Tendler originally. He insisted on the additional $3,000 and according to Manager Curley, this was forthcoming. Then the rain began to fall.

RICKARD WOULD MATCH DEMPSEY

Willard and Firpo, who will battle at the Jersey City arena on July 12 have signed an agreement under the terms of which the winner will be matched with Dempsey, Rickard said.

GOOD WILL THE WORLD'S REMEDY

(By The Associated Press)

DES MOINES, July 4.—Christian good-will and friendship, exercised through the influence of the millions of members of the Christian Endeavor Societies, is the remedy for an existing war-torn world, declared Dr. Francis E. Clark, of Boston, founder and president of the movement, in his keynote speech which opened the twenty-ninth international Christian Endeavor convention here today.

Delegates in attendance from every state in the union, the provinces of Canada and many foreign lands, were told that the theme of the convention would be "The Harvest Time is Here." A "Friends of Christ" campaign also is to be inaugurated.

"Members of the Christian Endeavor in all lands must band together for the promotion of world-wide Christian fellowship," said Dr. Clark. "There is unbroken unity in our ranks. Some organizations within the first four decades of their existence have lost their early zeal, soft-pedaled their Christian purpose, and divided into two or more factions. Not so Christian Endeavor. Its activities and methods have multiplied ten-fold, but its fundamental purpose, to train the young for Christian service in the church and for the church never has been altered or overshadowed."

"Let it never be forgotten that the creed of an individual Christian Endeavor society is and must be the creed of its church. The society has no life separate from its church. It has no doctrinal questions to settle, but its fundamental purpose, to train the young for Christian service in the church and for the church never has been altered or overshadowed."

BOY'S HEAD IS CAUGHT IN A TURNSTILE

NEW YORK, July 4.—A score of passengers at the B. M. T. elevated station at Brighton Beach worked in relays for the better part of an hour yesterday in an effort to release Harry McGill, 5 years old, whose head had become wedged between bars of an exit turnstile. Falling to extricate the boy, they summoned in turn, plumbers and firemen from Hook and Ladder Company 244, with Acting Battalion Chief Lester Roberts. The boy was finally released before the firemen arrived.

Accompanied by his playmate, Lillian, 4 years old, Harry went to the station where the two children were accustomed to play "Zoo." Pretending that he was a lion the boy thrust his head through the bars and roared. He called to Lillian, who hurried to his aid. Try as they would, however, the "lion" was held fast in his trap. Their efforts only served to move the turnstile so as to render escape more difficult.

Lillian ran screaming for her parents and passengers in the station attracted by her cries found Harry, by this time in tears, with his neck and head between the immovable bars. Several passengers tried to turn the gate, but it resisted their stoutest efforts.

Meanwhile, Lillian returned with her father, Isidor Agon, and his brother, Harry, both strong men. They tried to force the gate back, but their efforts, too, proved futile. Then Isidor hurried to a nearby shop and returned with two plumbers and hacksaws. Witnesses say the plumbers were in the act of sawing a bar to release the boy when a man appeared on the platform, and Harry, who was an official of the B. M. T., threatened to have them arrested for mutilation of company property.

A call was then sent in for the fire company and for an ambulance from Coney Island Hospital. Pending their arrival the two Agon brothers set to work again to extricate the boy. Harry by this time, was showing signs of exhaustion. His head was now held in such a vise-like grip that he could breathe only with the utmost difficulty. It seemed as if the longer the rescuers worked at the bars the tighter they got. And Harry cried aloud when Isidor Agon gripped the horizontal bar that was pressing heavily on the back of his neck, even though Lillian sought to comfort her playmate.

For several minutes Dr. Bergen worked over the unconscious boy, who was finally removed to his home, suffering from shock.

Negroes As Race Wants To Stay In South; Meet On

White Man Held Responsible for Migration of Negro From South.

(By The Associated Press)
ATLANTA, Ga., July 5.—Negroes as a race do not desire to leave Georgia and the South and the remedy for existing conditions is in the hands of the white man, according to a communication addressed to the Legislature and the people of Georgia adopted at a conference of leaders of the colored race here.

The conference was presided over by Bishop J. S. Skipper of the African Methodist church from Alabama. While declaring opposition to any migration of the negro the bishop said he did believe the negro, as well as any other race, ought to have the right to scatter to all parts of the union. The bishop and others branded "social equality" and "negro supremacy" as bugbears created by political demagogues.

The communication which it is proposed to have printed for distribution among legislators and throughout the state set forth the evils which the negroes claim they labor under in Georgia.

These include low wages for farm labor, poor housing conditions, bad working conditions on farms managed by overseers in the absence of the owners, lack of educational facilities, poor accommodations for negroes when traveling, the enforcement of laws, the contract labor law, the repeal of which is asked, and mob violence.

The Legislature was asked to pass an anti-lynching law, several speakers saying they would prefer such a law to the state statute books than one enacted by Congress.

Bank Of England Raises Its Rate; Was No Surprise

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, July 5.—The Bank of England today raised its rate to 4 per cent from the 3 per cent level which prevailed for the year. The increase caused little surprise because the events recently had been moving towards such action. At the same time there is some opinion against raising the official minimum at a time when trade is so bad and that Great Britain's purchases of food and raw material in the United States and South America must be financed.

Advises Various Creeds To Love Their Neighbors

(By The Associated Press)
GOSHEN, N. Y., July 5.—Protestant Jews and Catholics joined last night in patriotic religious service and heard Supreme Court Justice A. S. Tompkins, grand master of Masons in this state counsel the Ku Klux Klan to love its neighbor and raise the barrier it has erected against races and creeds. The ceremony was held in the Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Knight of Columbus with Rev. J. F. McGinnis presiding. Justice Tompkins, a Baptist, was the chief speaker. Catholic ushers ushered the 1,000 Methodists, Episcopalians, Jews and members of other denominations who filled the pews and aisles and overflowed into the street. Justice Tompkins adjured his hearers to stand together against the Klan as they had fought together in the World War. "The great menace to our Republic today is on the inside not the outside," he said. "Our democracy cannot endure unless all classes creeds and races are allowed to live and work and worship freely and peacefully. Our government is not exclusively a white man's government or a protestant government, a Jewish or a gentile government."

Higgenbotham Defense Closes For the Present

(By The Associated Press)
LAKE CITY, Fla., July 5.—The defense in the trial of Thomas H. Higgenbotham, charged with the killing of Martin Tabert of North Dakota, who died in a prison camp, closed its case today with the understanding that it may reopen at the conclusion of rebuttal testimony by the state.

Farmer-Labor Party To Hold a Convention

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 5.—A national convention of the Federal Farmer Labor party, representing industrialists and farmers, will be held in December or next January for the purpose of nominating presidential and other candidates in the 1924 election. The report of the organization committee is adopted by delegates representing these groups meeting here with the national farm labor convention.

DEER INVADE PEACH ORCHARDS; RAVAGE LONG ISLAND FARMS

NEW YORK, July 4.—Fourteen deer, in close formation and apparently unafraid, invaded the peach orchard of John H. Jones, Yaphank, L. I., yesterday and nibbled the tender new leaves off Mr. Jones's peach trees unmindful of his efforts to drive them away. Deer have been reported to be plentiful in the middle part of the island recently and complaints have been made of their depredations as far east as Sag Harbor. Long Island farmers, finding the animals a destructive factor that is reaching serious proportions, are greatly impressed by the picturesque aspect of little herds of them roaming the fields, and they are beginning to advocate a prolonged open season for deer on the island, instead of the present three days each Fall. Game laws have protected them for many years during which they have been legitimate targets for hunters for only three days out of 365, which explains the rate at which they are multiplying and the damages which leads them to invade farms and uproot hedges, even in populous districts.

LINCOLN STATUE TO BE UNVEILED

CHICAGO, July 4.—Illinois will soon again pay honor to Abraham Lincoln through the erection of a statue of the emancipator, cast almost 20 years ago by Augustus St. Gaudens, who died shortly after the work was completed.

Bees, Trying To Swarm On Team, Sting Unwilling Horse To Death

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 5.—The bees made a mistake. They thought the backs of Chester Boyer's team a good place for their swarm to settle. And there was no pond in which the horses and their driver, Lee Waters, could take refuge. The swarm came drifting into an orchard where Waters was harvesting. The farmer saw the bees and picked out the worst possible place. Waters tried rap-

Syracuse Man Lost From Canoe and Police Seek Missing Woman

SYRACUSE, July 4.—State troopers today are confronted with an odd mystery involving the apparent disappearance of a man and a woman, with every indication that the man is dead. He is Frank A. Lacy, thirty-five of Syracuse and Oswego who vanished Friday when he went out in a canoe on Fourth Lake near Old Forge, in the Adirondacks.

Search of the lake for Lacy's body after the canoe was discovered was transferred to the woods on a new theory based on the fact that the canoe was not overturned. It is thought Lacy lost his way in the forest after the craft drifted from its mooring. The entire search was abandoned later in the expectation that Miss Madeline Lacy of Utica, who left Old Forge about the time Lacy disappeared, would give the authorities information which might solve the mystery. The woman did not return so the search was resumed yesterday.

Efforts to find Miss Lacy, an old friend of Lacy, have failed. Her camp near Old Forge, where Lacy went for a visit early last week remains as she left it. State troopers attach significance to the fact that before going for the canoe ride Lacy reported a roll of bills he took to Old Forge had vanished.

The room Lacy occupied at No. 242 East Ontario Street here is as he left it a week ago. His other belongings are in the Moose Head Hotel, Old Forge, where she was registered. If his body is not found efforts will be concentrated in an attempt to find Miss Lacy.

Lacy came here from Oswego five years ago until he left for Old Forge he was a brakeman on the New York Central.

Shelby Sits Down and Figures Out Its Financial Loss Of Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)
SHELBY, Mo., July 5.—It's a frenzy of excitement subsided, Shelby sat down today to count its losses on the debit side of the ledger. This little town which had its day yesterday must write down a deficit of about $100,000. It bought the championship match to which 7,022 paid admission. There was an outlay of $210,000 for the title holder, $20,000 for promotion and $55,000 for an arena. With the exception of salvage on the huge bowl estimated to be about $25,000 about $210,485 was realized in gate receipts from which federal taxes of $22,448 50 must be deducted according to figures made public here by the collector of internal revenue.

The entire investment was a dead loss. Emotionally the fight was an outstanding success. The town wanted Gibbons to stay with the champion 15 rounds and he did so. Several thousand fight fans a few minutes before the fight started crashed through the fence and swelled the attendance at the bout to about 23,000, but their presence did not show in the gate receipts. The potential earnings of the champion for the fight were cut to less than $262,000.

FIREWORKS EXPLOSION STARTS $150,000 FIRE IN VERMONT
HARDWICK, Vt., July 4.—Fire wiped out the heart of the business section of Hardwick early today, destroying five business blocks and two tenements, and driving ten families from their homes in their night clothing. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

The fire started from an explosion of fireworks in a small store directly beneath the barber shop of A. J. Roy, and the flames were quickly beyond control.

Firemen from Barre, Montpelier and Morrisville responded to calls for help and Company D, 172d Infantry, was rushed by special train from St. Johnsbury.

Reports from the General Hospital today indicated there was no change in the condition of Earl Gregory who is suffering from an accidentally inflicted gunshot wound sustained several weeks ago at Park Springs.

WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN

(By The Associated Press)
DECATUR, Ill., July 4.—Johnny Weismuller, I. A. C. swimming star and holder of more than fifty world swimming records, broke the world's record for the 500 metre swim free style here today. His time was 6:55, eleven seconds under the former record held by Watson of Canada.

LOST ENGAGEMENT RING RETURNS TO MRS. PINCHOT

MILFORD, Pa., July 4.—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot today recovered her diamond engagement ring, which had been lost for more than a year. The ring slipped from her finger as she was knitting at the commencement exercises at Milford High school in Forest Hall, but a search of the hall failed to find it.

About a week ago Peter Stroman, a little son of the Governor's farm superintendent, was playing about a rubbish dump, a mile from where the ring was lost, and picked it up. He carried it home to his mother, who did not even examine it, but put it in the kitchen cupboard. Today she heard that Mrs. Pinchot had lost a ring, so she examined the one the boy had found and took it to the Governor's wife, at Grey Towers. It is a large, yellow diamond, worth thousands, and was given to Mrs. Pinchot before her marriage in 1914.

Reporting Service Troubles

Telephone service embraces a variety of operations: the installation of telephones and changes in location; operating; maintenance of the central office equipment, outside plant and other apparatus; accurate and up-to-date directory listings; billing; collecting and numerous other things needed to give complete and satisfactory service.

We realize that at times difficulties will arise. Usually these are quickly remedied but there is always a possibility that some defect may develop which, in spite of our efforts, is not detected immediately.

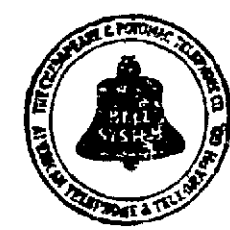

It will help if you will make reports to us in the following way:

CALL THE REPAIR CLERK if your telephone is out of order. It will be repaired without delay.

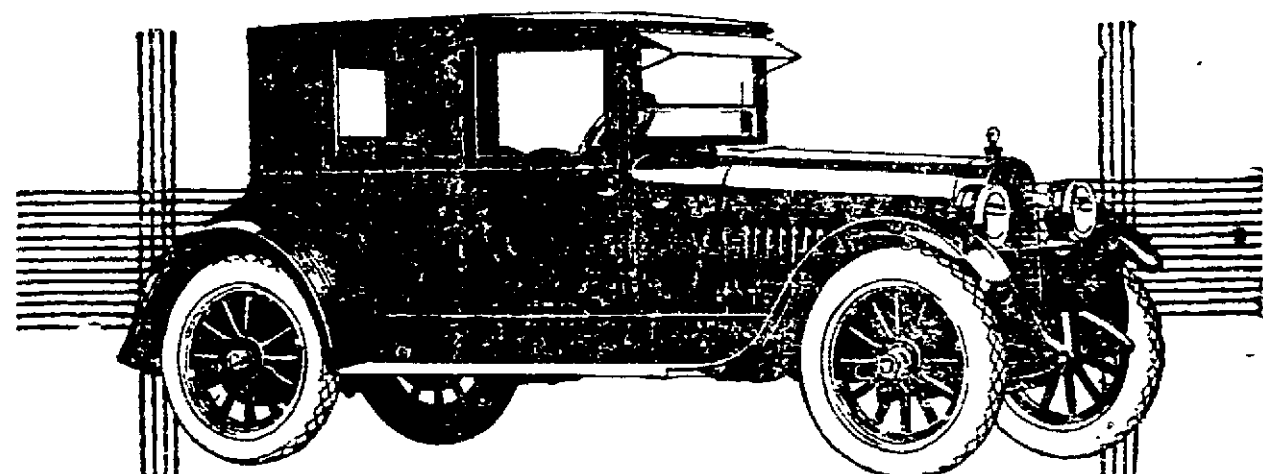

CALL THE CHIEF OPERATOR if your calls are not completed satisfactorily. You will receive prompt and courteous attention.

CALL THE BUSINESS OFFICE on matters concerning applications for telephones, bills, adjustment of accounts, directory listings, advertising and the like.

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES BRANCH, July 5.—
(Grapevine Wireless).—Danville certainly took a holiday yesterday, the old town was shut up tight as a drum. Just like Sunday, only more so.

Even the traffic on the Main and Union streets knocked off for the day.

But right after lunch the crowd began to gather in front of the Register-Bee building to get the returns of the big fight. All available space between Main and Patton was quickly filled before the preliminaries began to flicker over narrowed Press wire which had strung direct from the ringside at Shelby, Montana. Up to the last minute there was an argument about money and it looked like the performance would be curtailed. Fighters and promoters and hangers-on are keen for the long-green. Yuh know they rake off about $3,000 a minute when the fracas starts, and that is a sum not to be sneezed at even in these prosperous times.

Walter P. Tudor, the popular insurance agent, handled the megaphone and carried the audience right up to the ring, telling about each move as it happened—(see report of the fight on another page, we haven't the space here to tell about it.)

Just as predicted in this colyum yesterday, the big frolic of the fourth took place at Paris Spring Beach.
From early morning until late in the night every make of automobile in the Danville market was seen either going to or returning from the beach.

The day was warm, the water was fine, and hundreds of bathers put on their hot-quicks and waded into the pond. Then there was music and dancing in the evening and "a good time was had by all," as they say at Stokesland. Picnic parties left the roads and were scattered through the woods in and around the springs. Ah, Gladys, it was grand! Oh, chigger, where is thy sting!

Willing Worker.
Master (to new cook): "We want you to show what you can do tonight.
Sarah. We have some rather special people coming for a musical evening.
Do your very best, you know."

Cook: "Sure, sir, that I will. It's a long time since I did any singing, but you can put me down for a couple of comic songs, if you like."

Still Going!
Billy got his Flivver out
and filled her up with gas.
He shot up the road with high

$1,000,000 IN DIVIDENDS GO
TO 30,000 EMPLOYEES OF FORD

DETROIT, July 4.—Distribution of more than $1,000,000 in dividends to 30,000 employees holding investment certificates has been begun by the Ford Motor Company. The distribution is on the basis of 8 per cent. for the six months ending June 30.

When the investment certificate plan was announced it provided a guaranteed return of 6 per cent. per year, but the company has increased the return whenever business conditions permitted.

"I myself lack that intimate knowledge of character which is his native gift. Books I know better than men, and it was my peculiar acquaintance with books that brought Gans and me together in New York. Then I saw how well him in an amazing police case and aided him to prove a crime, the discovery of which turned upon a certain paper manufactured for the Medici.
But a greater thing than this criminal incident sprang from it; and that is my friendship with the wonderful Peter."

He expatiated upon Mr. Peter Gans until his listeners wearied of the subject. Then Giuseppe Doria intervened with a personal problem.
He desired to be dismissed and was anxious to learn from Brandon if the law permitted him to leave the neighborhood.

He found himself detained, however, for some days, until an official examination of the strange problem was completed. The investigation achieved nothing and threw no ray of light, either upon the apparent murder of Bendigo Redmayne, or the disappearance of his brother.

Mr. Albert Redmayne stayed no longer in Devonshire than his duty demanded for he could prove of no service to the police. On the night previous to his departure he went through his brother's scanty library and found nothing in it of any interest to a collector. The ancient and well-thumbed copy of "Moby Dick" he took for sentiment and he also directed Jenny to pack for him Bendigo's "Log"—a diary in eight or ten volumes.

He departed, assured that his family was the victim of some evil, concocted alike from himself and everybody else; but he promised Jenny that he would presently write to America and say every incident of the case, so far as it was known and reported, before his friend Gans.

Before he returned to the borders of the world, and together the women climbed, where food might be procured for the last tardy caterpillars to change their state.

And then, where two tall cypresses stood upon either side, Jenny and Assunta stayed a while.

The lake below was now reduced to a cup of liquid, into which shot streams of light into the meadow shadows at its brink, but there were vessels floating on the waters that had the water's eyes.

They looked like twin, top torpedoes boats—mere streaks of red and black upon the water, with Italy's flag at the taffrail. But the little ships were no toys, as Assunta hated them, for the strange craft told of the ceaseless battle waged by authority against the mountain smugglers and reminded the widow of her own lawless husband's death
ten years before.

The women climbed presently to a little field of meadow grass that sparkled with tiny flowers and spread its alpine sword among thickets of scrubberry.

Work awaited them. But first they ate the eggs and wheat bread, walnuts and dried figs that they had brought and shared a little flask of red wine. They finished with a handful of cherries and then Assunta began to pick leaves for her great basket while Jenny loitered a while and smoked a cigarette. It was a new habit acquired since her marriage.

Soon the women started upon their upward way. They had descended about a mile and at a shoulder of Granite sat down to rest in welcome shadow.

And then, suddenly, as if it had been some apparition flamed upon the air, there stood in the path the figure of a tall man. His red head was bare and from a some time before Jenny could see his eyes. They saw the stranger's great tawny mustache, his tweed garments and knickerbockers, his red waistcoat, and the cap he carried in his hand.

It was Robert Redmayne. Jenny uttered one loud cry of terror and then relaxed and fell unconscious upon the ground. The widow leaped to her aid, but it was some time before Jenny could see his eyes.

"Did you see him?" she gasped,
clinging to Assunta and gazing fearfully where her uncle had stood.

"Yes, yes—a big, red man; but he meant us no harm. When you cried out, he was more frightened than
we. He leaped down, like a red fox, into the woods and disappeared."

"Remember! Remember exactly what he looked like, that you may be able to tell Uncle Albert just how it was. Assunta, he is Uncle Albert's brother—Robert Redmayne!"

Jenny helped Assunta with her great basket, lifted it on her shoulders and then set off beside her.
"I have a horrible dread," she said. "Something tells me that we ought to be going faster. Would you be frightened if I were to leave you, Assunta, and make greater haste?"

The other managed to understand and declared that she felt no fear.

They parted and Jenny hastened, risked her neck sometimes, and sped forward with the energy of youth and on the wings of fear.

Jenny saw and heard no more of the being who had thus so unexpectedly returned into her life. Her thoughts were wholly with Albert Redmayne. He was at Bellagio when she reached home, and his manner, Assunta's brother, Ernesto, explained that Mr. Redmayne had crossed after luncheon to visit his dearest friend, the book lover, Virgilio Poggi.

Jenny waited impatiently and she was at the landing stage when Albert returned. He smiled to see her and took off his great slouch hat.

He looked at Jenny's frightened eyes and felt her hand upon his sleeve. "Why, what is wrong? You are alarmed. No ill news of Glau-sippe?"

"Come home quickly," she answered. "and I will explain."

Jenny told him that she had seen Robert Redmayne, whereupon her uncle and Assunta's brother, Ernesto, then declared himself both puzzled and alarmed.

Wheeler Praises Chief Executive

(By The Associated Press)
DES MOINES, July 4.—President Harding was praised by Wayne B. Wheeler of Washington, attorney for the anti-league of America in his address before the 19th International Christian Endeavor convention in session here tonight. Mr. Wheeler's address was on "Patriotism's Challenge for Law and Order."

"The teachers of our next generation do not witness the downfall of orderly liberty and the rule of right and justice as a return to anarchy and the rule of might, Christian Endeavor can and must help to create the sentiment that will make a nation of the United States Constitution unpopularity," said Mr. Wheeler. "President Harding was right in his challenge to New York state recently when he reminded them of Lincoln's great pronouncement that a nation could not remain half-slave and half-free."

Mr. Wheeler appealed to all the delegates from foreign countries to use their influence in their respective countries to prevent their countries from being used as a base for defying the prohibition laws of the United States. Every province of Canada is represented at the convention. "Let us remember that the liquor interests in Europe do not represent the best element in those nations," said Mr. Wheeler. "There is a growing minority in every nation of the world against the liquor traffic. All nations but two have their prohibition movements. By making good in the United States we will aid every other nation in the world to hasten the day of final freedom."

GOOD YEAR

Who'll Get Hundred Thousand Dollar Bok Peace Prize

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
(Special to The Bee.)

NEW YORK, July 5.—A young woman, made famous overnight, is the custodian of $100,000 which awaits the person who can invent a world peace panacea.

Edward W. Bok, former magazine editor, who started the world by his offer of a big money prize for a workable plan to achieve and preserve the peace of the world, is at his summer home in Camden, Me.—a fairy prince and a Sphinx hiding from international clamor.

Miss Esther Everett Lape, selected by Bok as head of a committee of ten famous people to administer the award, is his mouthpiece.

"Some seem to fear," said Miss Lape, in an interview with NEA Service, "that the $100,000 award is an attempt to influence the public mind in favor of the League of Nations or the World Court. Emphatically it is not."

"Our interest is to get at a plan, acceptable to all, which will enable the United States to cooperate with other nations in bringing that which every right-minded person certainly must hope for—a real peace."

Who is Miss Lape? Why did Bok pick her to head a committee of such noted persons as Mrs. Clifford Pinchot, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Mrs. Ogden Reid, former Ambassador John W. Davis, former Governor Miller, of New York, former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Judge Learned Hand, Melville B. Stone, newspaper man, and William H. Johnston, labor leader?

"Immigration," says Miss Lape, "was our common interest."

"As a writer on this subject—near to the heart of Bok, once an immigrant boy himself—she won the editor's respect with her series 'The Immigrant in America.' She first met Bok at a conference on immigration."

A graduate of Bryn Mawr and Wellesley colleges, Miss Lape went to Tucson, Ariz., to teach the boys at the state university "how to write their oil reports." Returning here she studied immigration with this result:

"I became convinced that all social welfare issues become political in the big sense of the word—that they can best be remedied by proper legislation."

So she began to take an interest in things political, lending her support to movements which strove for better politics. She directed a home campaign in Europe for the late Mayor Purroy Mitchell when he ran for reelection on an independent ticket after he was defeated in his party primaries. She helped Mrs. Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

But Miss Lape is modest. So modest that she insists she is not "chairman" of the committee, that her title is "Member-in-Charge."

As for the $100,000 award—she says $50,000 will be paid when the plan is accepted by the committee of judges which will be selected before Sept. 1. The other $50,000 will be paid when the plan has been proved practicable.

"Just how this will be paid when the plan has been proved practicable," says Miss Lape, "hasn't yet been decided. It may be through ratification by the Senate, by approval of some other way. That is a detail which the committee will take up later."

In the meantime, many individuals and social groups are already preparing plans aiming at the award.

BOK'S PEACE OFFER SEQUEL TO CHILDHOOD

(Special to The Bee.)

CAMDEN, Me., July 5.—A dream of childhood will come true. Edward W. Bok's $100,000 prize award brings out a plan that will achieve world peace.

It began back in Holland more than 50 years ago when this message of his grandmother was passed on to him:

"Wale, you the world a bit more beautiful and better because you have

EVEN PEERS LAUD THE AIMS OF LABORITES

BY MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON, July 4.—Frightened by the "menace" of a labor government in Britain, many members of the older parties in Parliament would like to attack the method by which the trades unions finance the election campaigns of the labor party.

It is not a new thing. Before now the trades unions have had to battle, finally winning a great victory when the act of 1913 was passed by Parliament, which set a trades union taking a ballot of its members to see whether they are willing to vote funds for election purposes.

Law Attacked.

After an affirmative vote is had, individual members who object to contributing can get exemption without prejudice to themselves. This, of course, is to prevent workers belonging to the old parties from giving money to the labor party if they did not intend to support its candidates.

But the law once more under fire. Members of the old parties now have up a bill whereby, instead of individual unionists having to claim exemption, they would have to sign a paper if they did want to pay.

The older parties have no trouble raising funds because the manufacturers and landowners always contribute heavily to the Liberal and Tory party chests, either because of political favors or with an eye to receiving a peerage from a grateful premier.

How divided public opinion, outside of the labor ranks is on the subject of trades union political contributions.

Miss Esther Everett Lape, head of committee handling $100,000 Peace Award offered by Edward W. Bok (lower right). Other women on committee (from top down) Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Gifford, and Mrs. Ogden Reid.

"With boyish frankness," he wrote to the leading men of the day asking them mooted questions. They answered and Bok made friends of them all. President Garfield, President Grant, Sherman, Longfellow, Whitman, Stevenson, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Phillips Brooks Emerson were among the list of his youthful correspondents. He visited many of them too.

Journalism interested him. For a time he edited a theater program, then a magazine at Henry Ward Beecher's church. For 30 years he was editor of the Ladies Home Journal until he retired in 1919 "to play."

"Play," he wrote, explaining his busy life now dedicated to public service. "I created a trust fund to expand the time conscious that he is helping to make the world better for someone else."

"I ask no greater privilege than to be allowed to live to see my potential America become actual. The America that I like to think of as the America of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt—not faultless but less faulty."

Toward that end Bok founded the Philadelphia Forum in his home city and created a trust fund to expand $10,000 annually to the person giving the best public service to Philadelphia. Money, he thinks, should be given for such service—as in the case of the $100,000 peace award—for in his book he says:

"With school days ended, the question of self-education," says Bok, "became an absorbing thought."

was shown recently in a debate in Lords.

Lord Birkenhead, who started out in life as P. E. Smith, a brilliant attorney warned the government against the growing "menace" of labor socialism and asked what it was going to do about this matter of union campaign funds.

Tories Hesitant.

The Tories have no intention at the present time of violently antagonizing trade unions. Labor doesn't vote solidly for Labor party candidates. In the Lancashire and Yorkshire manufacturing district, many workmen support Tories.

The Tories have no intention that if it made a violent change in the present laws, these workmen would revolt and smash Tory candidates.

Therefore, it was not surprising to hear Viscount Peel, replying for the government, say:

"If there is a large amount of Socialism, feeling and opinion in the country, it is important that it should have the fullest voice and representation in Commons."

That the Labor party is not entirely without sympathizers in the House of Lords was made evident by the speeches of Lord Haldane, chairman of one of Britain's greatest law firms and philosophers, a former lord chancellor and at present on the supreme law court, frankly said his sympathies were very much with the Labor party.

He supported it in the last election and he would support it again, not because he had a desire to see the terms of their progress carried out but because back of what the Labor party stood for was the very real and earnest desire for a better life for the people—a genuine seeking to promote something like equality.

Lord Salisbury, one of a former premier, brother of Lord Robert Cecil and himself a member of the present cabinet, deprecated trailing trades unions as enemies.

And then Earl Russell closed the debate by making light of Birkenhead's fears of a Socialist-Labor government.

AUTO RACER IS BADLY INJURED

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., July 4.—Lester Furrner, of Asheville, N. C., participating in a ten mile automobile race here today in a local amusement park, received a fractured hip, serious bruises about the head and chest, and possible internal injuries, when a blowout sent his car spinning through the fence lining the race track. He was rushed to a hospital where it is understood his condition is critical.

Several other minor accidents marred the race, which was won by Cecil Loeb, of Jacksonville, before a crowd estimated at 15,000. Loeb's time for the ten miles was 11 minutes 40 2-5 seconds.

Ships May Cease Bringing Liquor

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4.—The belief that the foreign steamship lines would soon cease to import beverage liquors inside the American three-mile limit was expressed today in an influential quarter of the Administration, and while no intimation was given that such news had been received in official Washington, it appeared that the idea was founded on something substantial.

If the lines do refrain from medicinal supply, the situation will be solved for the time being and Congress can then deal with the matter in December.

The fact that the foreign lines have already suffered considerable financial loss in having their excess liquor seized and held by the American Government will be a factor in their determination not to force the issue further, but to rest on the tests and protests they have already registered, so it is held here.

Another factor in the situation, it is understood, is that word has been quietly passed out to diplomats here that the American Government was resolved not to yield in the situation, and that it would be best for the lines not to risk causing any further irritability other to the Administration or to other American people at large.

In this connection it may be stated that some time ago a prominent official of the Anti-Saloon League said the chance of modifying the ship liquor provisions of the Volstead law would be greatly affected by the manner in which the foreign lines and their nations behaved between now and the time Congress is asked to consider the subject.

Officials think that the present quiet is perhaps merely a lull, and they are bearing in mind the remarks of Lord Curzon, British Foreign Secretary, concerning the possibility of British reprisals. It is admitted that almost any of the great maritime nations might cause the United States Government and American shipping great inconvenience if they determined to insist upon such a program.

A new technical point regarding ship liquor which is believed to be of great importance to British shipping has been called to the attention of Secretary Hughes by the British Embassy. Following the request of information, the Secretary has asked the Treasury for facts in the case before making a reply to the British Government.

The inquiry results from the case of the British liner Tuscania, which plies between New York and Italian passengers, both in cabins and in steerage. The Cunard Line, it is understood, is under contract with the American Government for this traffic and by the terms of the contract is bound to furnish liquor ration in accordance with the Italian law observed by the Italian steamship lines.

It is pointed out that if British vessels operating in the Italian trade are to be put at a disadvantage in the matter of medical liquor the result unquestionably will be that British trade will suffer and that the business will go to Italian lines.

U. S. Valuation Of Railroads Will Be Argued Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4.—Controversial questions in connection with the federal valuations of railroads will come up for argument tomorrow before the Interstate Commerce Commission with counsel for several railroads, state railroad commissions and organizations interested in readiness to participate in the proceedings. A brief in behalf of the national conference on valuation of American railways recently held at Chicago with a number of Senators, labor leaders and representatives of farm organizations in attendance has been filed with the commission, and a spokesman for the group is expected to appear.

The argument will bear directly on the valuation of a number of railroads in nearly all cases, the roads concerned are attacking the tentative valuation announced by the commission for their property as too small. State railroad commissions in some instances have represented the valuations found as too great, in part or in whole.

BOOTLEGGERS NO WORSE THAN ARE THEIR CUSTOMERS

(By The Associated Press)

NORFOLK, Va., July 4.—Bootleggers should be subjected to no greater condemnation than the customers who encourage them in their trade, John Garland Pollard, of William and Mary College, declared at the opening session of the 16th annual Virginia Baptist Encampment at Virginia Beach tonight.

More than 2,500 delegates and visitors were in attendance. The sessions today were largely preliminary and included an address by Dr. Henry Allen Tupper, of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Pollard, in denouncing violations of the liquor laws, declared that bootlegging was one of the greatest evils confronting the country. He urged the women to take an active part in politics and endeavor to keep it clean by electing the highest type of men to office.

SEVENTEEN HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

(By The Associated Press)

NORFOLK, July 4.—Seventeen persons were hurt, none of them seriously in a rear end collision tonight between two trains on a roller coaster at Ocean View. One train, with three small cars, was bumped after a coupling broke, and while the emergency brakes for the entire plant were applied, the second train into the two cars of the train ahead. The accident happened at a point twenty feet above ground and several persons were slightly hurt by jumping.

Jack Wins But Is No Wonder Man As Was The Opinion

MARRY NEWMAN
(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

SHELBY, Mont., July 5.—Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion of the world, defeated Tommy Gibbons in 15 fast rounds at the open arena here yesterday afternoon for the heavyweight championship. But Dempsey didn't prove he was such a wonder man after all. While it is true the champion was on the aggressive nearly every step of the way, he met an opponent who tested him to his very limit. In fact there were times during the fracas when the smaller Tommy Gibbons rocked the champion with stinging right and left hand punches to the body. In the fifth round for instance, Gibbons had the champion back on his heels with a well directed left hand chop at the face and once again Tom stretched the champion out with a right hand rip to the head. Even as late as the eleventh round while the crowd was pulling for Gibbons to beat the champion the St. Paul battler rallied after being subjected to the severe barrage at the hands of the victorious Dempsey and actually beat the champion to the punch and had him looking rather puzzled as he went to his corner somewhat dazed from a swift left hand rap from Gibbons. Gibbons was a favorite with the crowd. It was apparent right then and there that the side of the battle had turned to Gibbons and they cheered the latter as he walked to his corner and the champion stepped somewhat unsteadily to his corner. To sum up the entire situation Dempsey was too strong for Gibbons. Gibbons had to fight the champion 15 rounds together with suffering disadvantage in height and age. It was almost impossible to expect him to batter down the champion against those odds. At long range Gibbons was easily Dempsey's master but he could not wait and assault the giant as Gibbons took a good lacing and the crowd gave him the big cheer after it was over.

Due to hard rain that is falling and the stony condition of the turf, Smith's ball is almost covered with mud as he addresses it for his second shot which he hopes will carry him on the green. His Smith then right to lift his ball and remove the mud prior to playing his second shot. The condition of the ball makes it seem certain that it will interfere with distance and direction.

Mud on the ball is not considered as rendering the ball unfit for play. In match play you lose the hole if you clean the mud from the ball prior to shooting. While the rain is falling hard and a match is being played and the turf is in bad condition, the committee in charge makes a special rule, granting the players permission to remove the mud from the ball without suffering a penalty.

KEEN STREET DEFEATS CHRISTIANS

Keen Street came out at the long end of the score in the game with Christians today. Keen Street kept the lead until the fifth when the Christians staged a come back and tied the score, another run pushed across in the seventh by the Keen Streeters decided the contest. New Street pitched an excellent game for Keen Street, allowing only two hits but was inclined to be wild, walking men, Rhodes, altho hit freely pitched well, striking out seven men.

Durham Takes 2 From Raleighites

RALEIGH, July 4.—Pete Gibson celebrated the Fourth by allowing his former teammates only one single and as a result Durham defeated the locals here this afternoon 4 to 0. Gibson was in great form and had the Capitals popping up at all times. With the perfect support accorded him by the Bulls only three Raleigh players reached first base throughout the entire game. Graves who walked in the second, was the first to get on and caught in an attempted steal. The other two got on in the sixth when the solitary hit was garnered. Siner singled to left, spoiling a perfect game for the visiting twirler. And Carey was hit by a pitched ball. Graves, Raleigh centerfielder, was by far the outstanding feature of the game by his repeated brilliant catches. One, a long running, one-hand stab near the fence of a drive of the bat of Benson, was said to have been the most spectacular play ever seen on the Raleigh park.

MORNING GAME

DURHAM, N. C. July 4.—Manager Lee Gooch's Bulls wielded their bats with telling effect in this morning's game with Raleigh at Doherty Park getting no less than fifteen hits off Pitcher Riel, reinstated by Judge Landis yesterday. The final tally was 9 to 4.

Features of the game were fielding stops by Carey and Stringfield, a pretty catch by Benson and the slick work of Heine, Waldrop, and Sadler. Heine got five hits in five times, batting a perfect 1000. Waldrop, 2, batted with two triples while Sadler's homer made it a Fourth of July hero.

Manager Gooch played Vigueres behind the bat in the last few stanzas of the game, and the outfielder showed up remarkably well.

FOURTH BIG DAY AT SOUTH BOSTON

SOUTH BOSTON, July 4.—South
Boston's celebration of the Fourth was one that will be long remembered by the people of Halifax county.
The crowd was the largest ever seen here by this generation, the visitors numbering 6,000 people and being joined in the holiday pleasures by about 3,000 townspeople.

The celebration was in the nature of a "Booster Day" for South Boston.
Practically every convenience, from free to the visitors, the parade took place at 10:30, being composed of striking floats, by the merchants of South Boston, the schools of Halifax county, and the various civic organizations of the town.

Three ball games were played during the course of the day, all being free to the celebrators. In the first,
South Boston lost to Younger's Store 9 to 4. The second game between Clover and Turberville was annexed by Turberville by a 9 to 3 score.
In the third game Oak Level defeated
Catawba 7 to 2.

Between the games about two o'clock a large basket picnic dinner was spread near the fair grounds,
where the games were played.

Following the dinner the assembly was entertained by two interesting and forceful addresses by Dr.
Ryland Sanford, pastor of the Baptist church, and William M. Tuck, a South Boston attorney. Music for the day was furnished by the Danville Military Band.

MAY ARREST RICH MAN ON YOUNG GIRL'S STORY

PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—The arrest of several men, including a wealthy stock broker of New city, may result from the story told by a 13-year-old girl.
Judge William N. Lewis in the Municipal Court yesterday afternoon. The girl is Mildred Hofer, formerly of Springfield, Mass. The girl's mother, who came here last Friday seeking her, told probation officers yesterday that Mildred ran away from a convent school in Hoboken ran over a year ago. She said she did not see her again until she met her in a hotel in New London, Conn., where she introduced Carl Aubuchon, a broker in New York, as her husband. When the girl left she told her mother they intended making their home in New York.

A few months ago, Mrs. Hofer said she saw Mildred's picture in a New York paper after the girl had taken poison and was removed to a hospital. At the hospital the mother said she found the girl in a private room with a private nurse and every attention, all supplied by Aubuchon.
Mrs. Hofer said she accused Aubuchon of not being married to her daughter, but said the man promised to show her the marriage certificate. He put her off until he finally disappeared from the hospital with the girl.

The girl was found unconscious at Fifteenth and Chestnut streets on the morning of June 21 with her clothing torn, and according to the police, intoxicated. Probation officers say she had been on a party with friends with whom she had been living here and they had thrown her out of a machine.

Mildred told the probation officers that Aubuchon sent her to Atlantic City, promising to send her money, but did not do so. Later she said she met a man in a cafe offered to send her to friends here on Angola Terrace, near Fifty-eighth street, and another man took her there.

After Mildred had been arrested here the man in whose home she had been living on Angola Terrace, it is alleged, called up the mother at the home of a married daughter in Wood-cliffe, N. J., and told her about Mildred.

When the girl was arraigned as a runaway before Judge Lewis yesterday he held her pending an investigation and ordered the District Attorney's office to make a thorough investigation of her story and arrest all the men mentioned if there was any criminal evidence against them.

day for a stay of two weeks at Par-rick Springs.

A MONEY-MAD SPORT?

(Tuesday's Roanoke World-News)

There may possibly be a prize fight in Shelby, Montana, tomorrow afternoon. But a good many people have become so disgusted with the money-grabbing game which has been going on there this past week that they don't care whether the fight takes place or not. Boxing is not in such good repute as a sport that it can stand the added stigma which has been inflicted upon it by the publicity coming out of Shelby. Even sportsmen and sporting writers seem to be unanimous in their belief that this particular sport has gone money-mad and must come back to "normalcy" or else go down in disrepute. "Money-money-money" is the only cry coming out of the Montana town. And everybody is going to lose except Jack Dempsy and his manager, who have made sure that they are going to get there, fight or no fight.

"Blue-Sky Prize-Fighting" is the subject of the New York World editorial yesterday, which said:

"Purses are growing too large,
Champions are asking too much and are too careful about whom they meet. Instead of being sickeningly brutal, as once was the case, boxing is now sickeningly commercial.
Money has to flow like water before anybody will risk a black eye."
Dempsy has already collected a couple of hundred thousand dollars, which, considering the slim risk he is running of incurring any damage, is mighty high pay. At present writing the fight is definitely and finally scheduled to take place.
Which is as it should be. He ought not to be allowed to get out of Montana with all that money without fighting for it. And if this man Gibbons should accomplish the seemingly impossible and give Dempsy a beating, there won't be so very many tears shed and sure, the sport would be in somewhat better repute.

Taking Rest Cure

Mary Miles Minter, beautiful motion picture star, is in a sanitarium at Pasadena, near Los Angeles, Calif., taking a "rest cure," according to her grandmother. Her whereabouts became known when friends learned she had been missing a week from her home. Miss Minter, her friends say, has not been entirely well since the murder of William Desmond Taylor, movie director, slain over a year ago. The two were close friends.

NEW YORK SLEUTHS HUNT FIREWORKS BOOTLEGGER

NEW YORK, July 4.—A cordon of fire wardens was thrown along the water-front today with orders to arrest all persons caught "bootlegging" fireworks into this city. Other officers were detailed by Thomas J.
Hayes, chief of the bureau of fire prevention, to guard railroad terminals and automobile highways.

So confident is Commissioner Denman that New York will have a "kale and snare" fourth, that for the first time in years, the routine daily platform system will carry on without the aid of emergency reserves.

BRITISH LABOR'S PLATFORM WOULD MAKE U. S. GASP

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, July 3.—The British labor party's platform would probably make the American workers gasp. But British workers—badly housed, heavily taxed, wages cut and food prices raised—would not be so easily affected.

This platform demands a levy on fortunes exceeding $25,000. Labor held that even a $25,000 conscripted men to fight for the state must conscript money to pay for the war. Labor said it did not want to penalize the rich, but to get a decent and just industrial system, it proposed a capital levy which would profiteers as special targets in campaign speeches.

Such a proposal led to a series of Liberal newspaper and political attacks. The labor party is not a "bolshhevik" Labor was an opponent—and Philip Snowden, its leader, put the very topic of capital levy before Parliament.

The labor party favored a nation of land values, to secure the community at large the social credit wealth now largely devoted to private pockets.

Is other domestic plans were in the main as follows:

Work or maintenance for all unemployed persons.

Reorganization of agriculture whereby landlords are to sacrifice rents rather than let workers succumb to starvation wages.

A national housing scheme, larger old age pensions and pensions for widowed mothers.

Nationalization of railways and mines was another plank. This caused opposition to call it a "red" party.

In international politics the labor party favored being called "pro-peace." It declared itself for revision of all the peace treaties and for building of an all-inclusive League of Nations with Germany and Russia as members. It wanted German reparations.

PHILIP SNOWDEN

...to pay the League of Nations interest in respect, as an instrument for the nation of a commonwealth with general disarmament as the final goal.

I was not expressing that such plans should be adopted. There were men in the labor party, like Ramsay MacDonald, C. P. Trevelyan and D. D. More, who during the war took the moral high ground in their hands by opposing the war itself.

And as a matter of fact this issue was raised against MacDonald and More and the first time it was tried was successful. In the first election however, the voters showed that they were no longer to be swayed by war issues, but were more interested in the conditions that had arisen since the war.

FIREWORKS WERE GOOD.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 4.—A small boy entered the grocery store of Henry C. Vanderberg here today. There was a counter of fireworks close to the door.

"Are these any good?" asked the boy, as he reached a match to a firecracker on the pile.

Before the grocer could answer there came an explosion that wrecked windows and shook cases. Firemen extinguished the blaze that followed, after nearly $1,000 damage had been done. The boy escaped.

—O. S. Bradley, clerk of the corporation court and two of his deputies, Fred Bagley and J. H. Stewart, went to Greensboro, N. C., yesterday afternoon in Mr. Bagley's car. They crossed the ball game there, returning during the evening.

Osteopaths Rap Prohibition Regime

NEW YORK, July 3.—America is reeling a race of "starch drunkards" and the prohibition of alcohol is creating a new and vicious national psychology in the opinions of two speakers at the American Osteopathy convention today.

The name "starch drunkards" was coined by Dr. Grant Mitchell of Chicago in a debate with Dr. C. W. McGregor of that city, on diet.

The white race is dominant, because ages ago, it took up abode by the sea whence it obtained foods rich in iodine, said Dr. Mitchell. That position is now threatened because we have become a nation of starch drunkards. He enumerated sixteen ways in which cooks prepared food but asserted every attempt to improve on Nature runs afoul.

Dr. Herbert Bernard, of Detroit, told of his discovery of the vicious psychology—a disease of an insanity—for which he held prohibition responsible. Professing not to go on record against prohibition, he saw the deliberate violation of the Volstead law creating an acute unhealthy way of mind that permeated not only large cities but "has crept right into the American home and into the minds of the younger generations."

"It is a quick leap," he said "from the prohibited booze in father's cellar to the taking of narcotic drugs, or immorality. The leap is made easy by the alcohol and the psychological stimulant produced by the physical vigor in a jazz dance."

The convention opening today and continuing until Saturday is attended by 2,000 delegates.

GOOD TIRES

If you intend to take your vacation or a long trip on your car this summer, make sure that you have your car equipped with good tires.

Tires that would give satisfactory service on the smooth streets of Danville might cause you some inconvenience on the hot, dusty roads on a long trip.

Let us trade you new Kellys for your old tires.

Eyes of Nation Turned To The Events in West

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 4.—Far from Philadelphia in distance as a time with the principal events of interest for 110,000,000 Americans in the observance of Independence Day, the nation's eyes were turned to the West where on the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence from British rule, a British warship was ordered by its commander to fire a salute of honor as the train bearing the President of the United States rolled over the Willamette river at Portland, Oregon. This incident of President Harding's trip to Alaska was to set a historical precedence. In the west too, in the midst of the Montana cow country, the pugilist champion of the world was to be decided at Spokane where several thousand fans gathered to watch Dennis, of Utah, defend his title against Tommy Grooms the St. Paul challenger.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fearington and daughter Miss Dorothy Fearington left yesterday for Miami, Fla., in their car. Mr. Fearington has been living in Miami for some weeks and proposes entering business there. His wife and daughter will remain with him for about three weeks and will return to Danville for another stay, before leaving for Florida permanently.
